

Water Molecules at Different Temperatures

- The circles represent water molecules.
- The molecules are randomly arranged.
- They interact with each other because of their attractions.
- The motion lines show that they are moving.

